The objective of the proposed amendments to the existing Stock Exchange (Brokerage) Regulations is to provide for an appropriate Regulatory framework for all licensed Securities Exchanges and Clearing and Settlement Facilities to be able to apportion the brokerage fees for securities transactions notably for equity.

In view of the fact that currently there is more than one Securities Exchange and each one has its own licensed Clearing and Settlement Facility to clear and settle transactions, the Financial Service Commission (FSC) has proposed some amendments to the Stock Exchange (Brokerage) Regulations which would allow the apportionment of the brokerage fees so that the appropriate fees are paid to the relevant Clearing and Settlement Facility. The new Regulations provide for each investment dealer to determine its own brokerage fee. The FSC would also amend its Rules which relate to Brokerage Fees to, inter alia, give effect to the proposal of allowing intermediaries to set their own fees.
